

INDUSTRIAL ENERGY WORKSHOP HOW TO SURVIVE NATURAL GAS AT $10/MMBTU

Register Now!

January 30, 2008—Chateau Sonesta Hotel (New Orleans, LA)

This workshop is for all facility managers and corporate decision-makers of large industrial facilities including petrochemical refineries, chemical manufacturing, and pulp & paper mills. The focus of this workshop will be the conversion of industrial process wastes and byproducts such as petroleum coke, wood wastes, landfill gas and similar wastes for energy production.

Website: www.gulfcoastchp.org/SaveEnergyNow/

Save the Date!

March 13, 2008—Hotel Acadiana (Lafayette, LA)

This workshop is for all facility managers and corporate decision-makers of small and medium-sized facilities including wastewater treatment plants, agricultural operations, and food processing facilities and municipal landfills. The focus of this workshop will be gasification and anaerobic digestion of agricultural/food processing wastes and similar wastes for energy production.

Registration begins January '08!

In support of U.S. Dept of Energy Industrial Technologies Program's "Save Energy Now" campaign, the Gulf Coast CHP Center is partnering with the Industrial Assessment Center at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette and the Louisiana Department of Natural Resources to bring you two CHP-related workshops in early 2008!

For more information:

Dr. Ted Kozman
Director of the Industrial Assessment Center at University of Louisiana at Lafayette.

Ph: (337) 482-5717

Email:

tak1485@louisiana.edu

Sponsored by:

